RELIEF FROM HOT WAVE DUE
THIS SABBATH

Fifteen Deaths are Recorded in First Protracted Wave

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The heat wave continued with unabated intensity today in most sections of the country, but moderate relief was forecast for tonight and tomorrow.

Thunder showers were expected to break the high temperature and humidity levels tonight in the New York area but weather bureau authorities looked for the mercury to pass 87.2 degrees, recorded yesterday for the year's high.

The weather man indicated that New England would obtain relief over the week end, predicting temperatures would drop to the low 80's accompanied by fair weather.

Light rainfall was reported in scattered localities in northern and southeastern sections. Maximum temperatures of 90 degrees were recorded in Chicago and Boston. High temperatures for Kansas City and St. Louis were 98 and 96 degrees, respectively.

Portland, Me., reported relief from the heat wave with a temperature of 80, eight degrees cooler than yesterday. Higher temperatures, however, were recorded at Providence, R. I., and in Worcester, Mass., where the mercury registered 85 degrees, five degrees higher than yesterday when one person was prostrated by the heat.

DEATH LIST OF 15

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Cooler weather was the forecast for most of the country today as a survey showed a death list of 15 for yesterday's heat wave—the first extensive one of a delayed summer.

Temperatures in the upper 80's and lower 90's were general throughout the midwest, with a maximum of an even 100 recorded at Dodge City, Kan.

Tornado winds, a water spout and plenty of rain were included with the high temperatures yesterday. Only the Pacific coast states had "normal" weather.

Seven persons were drowned, three in Minnesota, two in Massachusetts, and one each in Illinois and Missouri. Eight other deaths were attributed to the heat, including two each in Ohio and Illinois, and one each in Michigan, Iowa, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Relief Roll in Lee
County Less than One
Half of Winter Size

Lee county's relief roll is about half the total number which was during last winter. Clyde Buckingham, Lee county relief administrator, said this morning.

During the winter peak as many as 800 families were on relief in Lee county, this number having been reduced to about 350 families at the present time. Most of those employed on relief are now occupied in small jobs in Dixon city parks and at the airport. The work at the airport, Buckingham states, is about ninety per cent complete.

City Without Money
for Flood Control

Complaints of flood conditions in basements of Dixon homes were heard before the regular meeting of the city council Friday night, and it was decided nothing could be done.

Mayor William V. Slothower pointed out that $31,000 in delinquent taxes are already charged against the city books and that no money is available for allotments toward flood control.

At the session P. X. Newcomer was appointed to fill a vacancy made by the resignation of Frank C. Kinzinger from the Dixon airport commission. The city park board ordinance was repealed and Dixon parks were placed in control of the park district board.

CHIEF JUSTICE
MARSHALL DEAD
CENTURY TODAY

Paved Way for Upsetting of Roosevelt's NRA Scheme by Court

Philadelphia, July 6.—(AP)—The man who paved the way for the New Deal's legal troubles died 106 years ago today.

His name was John Marshall, and like the nine black robed justices who upset President Roosevelt's plans in 1935, he sat on the supreme court bench.

The nullification of NRA was based on a decision he handed down as Chief Justice in 1803.

The supreme court, he ruled, had the power to declare acts of congress unconstitutional. This right had been hotly fought.

Paradoxically, the decision that gave the court its power denied the court's right to greater power delegated to it by congress.

A District of Columbia Justice of the Peace named William Marbury was sued for a writ of mandamus to compel James Madison, secretary of state, to deliver the commission, confirming Marbury's appointment by President John Adams.

Was "Science of Law"

Marshall upheld Marbury's right to the office, but decided congress had overstepped the constitution in authorizing the courts to issue such a writ.

The principle enunciated in the famed decision was hailed by jurists as "America's original contribution to the science of law," but it was not for that alone that Philadelphians in honoring him titled the Liberty bell until it cracked.

In his 34 years on the bench—he was the fourth chief justice—he strengthened the power of the federal government, as opposed to the states, immeasurably.

His decisions laid a legal bulwark behind the theory of individual liberty. In 1819, in his most quoted decision, he wrote:

"We must never forget that it is a Constitution which we are expounding, a Constitution intended to endure for ages to come, and consequently adapted to the various crises of human affairs."

Half Billion Dollars Additional
New Taxes Annual Aim of the Leaders of Nat'l. Administration

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Taxes that will raise $350,000,000 to $500,000,000 a year were disclosed today as the aim of a leading member of the congressional committee putting the president's program into bill form.

"My idea is that we have got to raise a substantial amount of money," said Representative Samuel B. Hill (D-Wash.), chairman of the house ways and means subcommittee. "Furthermore, if the bill does not produce substantial revenue it will not, to my mind, be worth while."

FIRE MARSHAL
HINTS ARREST
IS IMMINENT

Investigation Shows Fire Started in Two Places

Springfield, Ill., July 6.—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Sherman Coults is convinced the July 4 fire in the south wing of the State House was incendiary in origin.

"We have investigated the fire from every possible angle," he said today, "and it has all the earmarks of an incendiary fire."

The fire, starting in a committee room on the fifth floor immediately above the south end of the House of Representatives, did about $2,500 damage. It was the second in two years to start in the same part of the building although the flames did little damage last Thursday compared with blaze of July 9, 1933, when the loss was estimated at $100,000.

Hints at Arrest

Coults indicated an arrest might be made sometime today in connection with Thursday's fire. His investigations determined that all wiring in the room was in good shape, the room was clean and free of rubbish and records had been stored in orderly fashion. For this reason they judged the fire, which investigation showed had started in at least two places, was not of spontaneous origin.

The fire marshal, in furthering his theory of an incendiary fire, suggested two causes. The first was that some person might have sought to destroy records and the second was that it was the act of a pyromaniac.

Records stored in the room in which the fire started belonged to the state architect's office.

Helen Wills Moody Wins
Back Relinquished Tennis Crown at Wimbledon

Sensational "Come-back" Results in Jacobs' Defeat

Wimbledon, Eng., July 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody climaxed her sensational comeback campaign today by overcoming Helen Jacobs, American titleholder for the last three years, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, in the final round of the All-England tennis championships.

Miss Jacobs held a 5-2 lead in the third set only to see Mrs. Moody, her old nemesis, stage a spectacular rally that carried her through the next five games in succession for set and match.

It was the first meeting of the two Helens since the American championships of 1933 when Mrs. Moody, suffering a back injury, was forced to default to Miss Jacobs in the third and deciding set.

Her Seventh Victory

Mrs. Moody's triumph in her first major tournament since she elected to emerge from retirement gave her the British title for the seventh time since 1927 and marked the third time she has beaten Miss Jacobs in the Wimbledon final since 1929.

For Miss Jacobs it marked her fourth unsuccessful bid for the British title after she had gained the final round.

The United States was deprived of a second title, when Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist of Australia defeated Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., and Johnny Van Ryn of Philadelphia, Davis Cup stars, in the doubles finals, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 5-7, 7-5.

Utilities to Fight Order They Must Assume New Sales Tax

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Indications were seen today that the public utilities of the state might fight the ruling of the Illinois Commerce Commission, announced yesterday, compelling them to absorb the new 3 per cent state occupational tax.

All of the large utilities in the Chicago area have informally asked the commission to be allowed to add the tax to consumers' bills, it was disclosed by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the commission. He said their attorneys probably were preparing more formal pleas.

The commission's ruling was that no utility would be permitted to pass the tax on to the consumer unless it could show its revenues were inadequate to absorb the tax.

All municipal and private water, gas, electric and telephone utilities are taxed under the new law. Only sales of industrial power are exempted.

Pass Guffey Coal Bill Regardless of Constitutionality, President's Appeal to House Committee Today

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—An appeal to congress to expedite the Guffey coal stabilization bill and leave determination of its constitutionality to future court tests was sent to the house ways and means committee today by President Roosevelt.

Attorney General Cummings yesterday declined to give the committee a flat statement as to whether he thought the legislation was constitutional.

The committee had been sharply divided on constitutionality of the measure, which would set up a "little NRA" for the bituminous coal industry.

Roosevelt was told about the division at a White House conference Thursday.

The president said that "the situation is so urgent and the benefits of the legislation so evident that all doubts should be resolved in favor of the bill, leaving to the courts, in an orderly fashion, the ultimate question of constitutionality."

The note suggested that the League of Nations, which already is arbitrating the dispute, continue its efforts.

F. H. A. CAMPAIGN
IN DIXON PROVES
VERY SUCCESSFUL

Approximately $107,149 in Improvements Now in Progress in City

Repair work, roofing, furnace work and other rehabilitation jobs connected with the Dixon Federal Housing program are progressing at a feverish rate it was reported from the Chamber of Commerce headquarters by A. J. Kowalevsky, secretary of the local federal housing committee, this morning, and canvassing of the city for repair work and building will be completed about August 1.

It was reported today that fifty per cent of Dixon has been covered by canvassers and that approximately $107,149 worth of work is now in progress other than federal housing, while repair work financed by the federal housing association amounts to more than $10,000 here. The total invested during the drive in new homes totals about $22,590. Kowalevsky said and the refinancing of old mortgages totals more than $15,000, according to estimates of the committee as a result of a survey of the campaign's results to date.

Expect $200,000 Total.

The local committee expects more than $200,000, other than federal housing jobs, to be spent in rehabilitation of homes in Dixon before the better homes canvass is completed in about three weeks. It is believed that repair work will amount to $50,000 at that time and that refinancing sums of $50,000 will be recorded.

Painters in Dixon are overwhelmed with orders, and many brightly painted homes are becoming conspicuously bright and tidy in appearance in different parts of the city. Repair work comes under Title One the committee states, while refinancing mortgages or building a new residence is known as Title Two. The government does not loan the money, but guarantees loans up to a certain percentage. Banks loan the money.

Classified lists of contractors and dealers in Dixon have been printed and are available to the public at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters of the local committee. The committee is grateful to the Chamber of Commerce for the generous use of the building for their headquarters.

State department's records, searched recently, indicated that there were approximately 125 United States citizens in Ethiopia, 110 of whom are missionaries.

Late in June an Addis Ababa report said that four American women missionaries, whose names were not given, had left Ethiopia and that six others were prepared to depart shortly.

Among the United Presbyterian missionaries in Ethiopia were Dr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hockman of Wheaton, Ill. The Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Buchanan of Monmouth, Ill., were listed as on furlough from the same mission.

U. S. SIDE STEPS

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—The United States deposited the Italo-Ethiopian troubles back on the other side of the Atlantic today but said it was "loath to believe" either nation would resort to other than pacific means to settle the dispute.

A note which Secretary Hull sent to Emperor Haile Selassie in response to the Ethiopian monarch's plea that the United States invoke the Kellogg-Briand peace pact to prevent threatened war in Africa, was interpreted widely today as an effort to avoid any entanglement in the dispute.

At the same time, though the United States in effect declined to interfere, it did point out that both Italy and Abyssinia signed the pact of Paris, otherwise known as the Kellogg-Briand treaty, which renounces war as an instrument of national policy.

Thus, most observers felt, the purpose of the note despatched last night was two fold. It sought to keep the United States out of the border dispute which is troubling Europe, and at the same time to assert American belief in the sanctity of treaties.

The note suggested that the League of Nations, which already is arbitrating the dispute, continue its efforts.

MUSSOLINI'S WILL IS FOR WAR IN EAST

Tells Blackshirts That Italy Won't Change Its Decision

Salerno, Italy, July 6.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, mounted on a cannon, told 12,000 blackshirts ready to depart for East Africa today that "We have decided upon a struggle in which we as a government and people will not turn back. The decision is irrevocable."

Earlier, enroute here from Rome, the wireless antenna of Il Duce's big seaplane had been struck by lightning but none of the occupants of the plane was injured. The wireless operator, signalling the occurrence, reported the plane had plowed through a heavy storm all the way.

Recalled Victories

Today's speech was addressed to the volunteer blackshirts of the "January 3" division who are expected to sail shortly for Africa. Il Duce told them the eyes of Italy were upon them and exhorted them to do their duty.

"Remember," he said, "that Italians have always defeated the black races. Adowa (where Italy suffered a severe defeat in an invasion of Ethiopia in 1896) was an exception only because of the difference in proportion between the forces. There were only 4,000 Italians against 100,000 Ethiopians."

AMERICANS TO LEAVE BULLETIN

Addis Ababa, July 6.—(AP)—The American legation today ordered all Americans to leave Ethiopia. Diplomatic circles took the action to mean that the United States expects there may be immediate developments between Ethiopia and Italy.

The United States' reply to Ethiopia's appeal invoking the provisions of the Briand-Kellogg pact was received at the legation at noon. It was not immediately transmitted to the government and indications were it might not be handed the foreign minister until Monday.

State department's records, searched recently, indicated that there were approximately 125 United States citizens in Ethiopia, 110 of whom are missionaries.

Late in June an Addis Ababa report said that four American women missionaries, whose names were not given, had left Ethiopia and that six others were prepared to depart shortly.

Eyes to the Sky

Symbolic of the spirit of flight in the modern American woman is this striking picture of Gladys O'Donnell, holder of many air marks. Her vision cast in the clouds, Mrs. O'Donnell is poised for the take-off in quest of new aviation laurels. She is 31, the mother of two children, lives in Long Beach, Calif., and has been flying for five years. When not in the cockpit, she's apt to be in the surf, for she's an expert swimmer. Special Meeting of Supervisors July 10

A special meeting of the Lee county board of supervisors will be held Wednesday, July 10 to act on the issuance of bonds for purchase of the right-of-way for route 71 through the county.

In a session last month the board approved plans for a bond issue of $50,000 to cover loans made to five townships for the right-of-way purchase. It is expected the issue could be retired in six years by townships receiving the money and would not have to be repaid by the county. A state law empowers the county boards of Illinois to issue bonds for all indebtedness contracted before July 1. The board voted 21 to 4 to create a debt in the general fund but no actual money has been advanced.

Store Transformed

Above are shown two views of a Green Bay, Wis., department store, before and after modernization. The top picture shows how the store appeared several months ago, before improvements were started. A modern store front was installed adding "sales appeal" as well as attractiveness. The black front, trimmed with chromium, lends a smart air to the merchandise displayed in the spacious show windows. New transom lighting was added and the entire building was repainted in four colors in a brick effect. The old awnings were replaced with a new type that roll up out of sight. The electric sign was rebuilt. The paved sidewalk in front of the building was repaired. Such modernization projects for commercial properties may be carried out under the modernization credit plan of the Federal Housing Administration, under which credit up to $50,000 is available through private lending agencies.

Dancing isn't something you just do with your feet, says Clifton Webb, famous actor-dancer, shown above, who has tapped his way from Broadway to Hollywood. ### THE BROADCAST

By Joseph Fort Newton

'A' WORD whispered on earth sounds like thunder in heaven, a wise old Chinese proverb tells us. It would be hard to name a more striking description of the difference between earthly and heavenly values. It makes one think of a famous story years ago which told how an angel, wandering upon earth, went into a church to worship. The church was full of people, but he could not hear a word of the service.

The organ played, the priest chanted, the people bowed and seemed to be praying, but not a word reached the ear of the angel. He puzzled him much, and he wondered if he had lost his sense of hearing. At last he heard a tiny, sweet voice, like the ripple of a brook—it was the prayer of a little child. Then a low, melting voice—the prayer of a mother for her wayward boy. The rest was silence.

Listen to the whisper on earth. It is in a drab room in a poor little house, breathed by an obscure, simple soul who thinks that only one person hears it: "Take this little gift to tide you over your trouble. I can spare it." But there is music in the highest heaven.

Listen again. It is a man talking softly to another who has done him injury: "Say no more about it. If there's anything to forgive, of course I forgive you." But a loud speaker echoes it in the sky.

Or may be it is another kind of whisper: "It's only a little wrong; no one will ever know." Or perhaps: "Sorry, but I've got to look after myself." Or something of this sort: "I heard a queer story about him the other day. Just between ourselves, don't tell it, but..."

Then listen to the thunder in heaven—it is all broadcast by Him to whom all hearts are open and from whom no secret is hid. The trumpets of God sound forth the muted goodness and badness of earth, the glory of sacrifice, the softly uttered slander, and the honest prayer.

On earth there is martial music and the beating of drums; in heaven no sound is heard but the roars of the dying and the sob of the brokenhearted, and a sigh that follows the sun around the earth!

New Books at Dixon Library

Newspaper Days—Dreiser. The volume is important for it is seen in the making of a novelist who has brought Americans face to face with vital facts and vital forces. In this history of Dreiser's early career as a newspaperman one beholds the furnace in which the creator of "Sister Carrie" and "An American Tragedy" was forged. Dreiser's experiences are worth reliving vicariously by the reader.

Tortilla Flat—Steinbeck. A story of the lazy life of three good-for-nothing Paisanos in lower California. Their rascalities are performed with such a righteous air that the reader's heart goes out to these sunny-eyed lovable, unmoral pagans.

Our Wings Grow Faster—Liening. A distinguished aeronautical engineer writes his "Only Yesterday" of American aviation, and takes a look into the future of air.

Border Guns—Carter. Western story.

Citizen and His Government—Smith. Al Smith at his familiar best writing authoritatively about his favorite subject.

Empire of Snakes—Carnochan. The experiences of a scientist who collecting snakes in Africa, was introduced to a native secret society. From the members he learned of their use of medicinal plants and their antidotes for snake poison which enable them to handle any kind of reptile with immunity.

The Lake—George Moore. The story of a young Irish priest, and the great changes that come over his tortured soul after he discovers that he loves a woman whom he has preached against. The style has the simplicity that betokens the accomplished craftsman in words.

Blessed is the Man—Zara. The author shows a genuine appreciation for the conflicting qualities of the Russian Jews: vulgarity, indecency, sensuality on the one hand—self-sacrifice and patient endurance on the other. The whole picture of the aliens is convincing, and his interpretations are sympathetic.

Mind and Society—Pareto. The first translation of the four-volume work of the noted Italian sociologist. It is no service to Pareto's noble attainments to disguise the fact that the work makes considerable demands on readers. However, the toll will be well repaid. Mussolini was Pareto's pupil, and it is said that it was this teacher who changed it from a socialist into a dictator. While one may be uncertain as to whether Pareto would have approved of Fascism, there can be no question but that he enjoys the entire intellectual allegiance of its chief. The author may be ranked with the three or four other outstanding exponents of the science of society.

American Costume Book—Hairst. Descriptive chapters about the clothing worn by American men and women, from the aboriginal Indians down to the "gay nineties." There are colored plates, and pattern numbers.

Ghost Story Omnibus—French. Weird and exciting stories by Gautier, Wilde, Doyle, Maupassant, Bierce, Blackwood, etc.

How to Make Money at Home—Wilson. More than a hundred plans by which women living at home can supplement the family income. The plans are grouped under such chapter headings as: Can you sew? Do you like children? Are you artistic? etc.

What Books Shall I Read?—Drury. Describes the methods of reading, how to use a library, aids to reading and study, how to form a private library, and concludes with a survey of the best books in each department of literature.

Divorce—Lichtenberger. The scholarly tone and cautious procedure of the study make doubly reassuring the conclusion that what so many panicky forecasters of the future of marriage have taken to be a falling market is in reality a rising market, and that improvement in the marriage situation is just around the corner. The book reviews the causes of divorce with special reference to the United States.

Former Greek Queen is Granted Divorce

Bucharest, July 6.—(AP)—On the ground that her husband, the former King George of Greece, had abandoned his marital domicile in Rumania, the court of appeals today granted an absolute divorce to former Queen Elizabeth.

This action precluded the possibility that Elizabeth might join George on the Greek throne should he be recalled as a result of a plebiscite to be held in Greece probably the end of this month.

The proceedings today occupied only 16 minutes and were secret. George, who is living in London, ignored the entire case and was not even represented by lawyers.

Elizabeth, it was announced, will now resume her old title of Elizabeth of Hohenzollern, Princess of Rumania.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Suggestible

Children are highly suggestible. They absorb nearly everything that goes on or that is said. To some extent therefore every adult is influential in the forming of a child's habits and attitudes.

Can you imagine the child in this situation, which I actually witnessed? The teacher was having the class name the different fruits, each pupil answering according to his preference. One little fellow said sincerely enough "prunes." To which the teacher replied "Oh, you're a prune." It was just one of those times when a person sees a chance to be funny or smart. Though she said it with a smile, I could see that it hurt the boy. He tried to grin, but his face betrayed the real emotion caused by the raucous laughter of the class.

He had given his best, an honest answer. He meant it, so what was so funny? Why do we do such things without thinking of the child's fine, sensitive nature? What did that mean to a child in front of his own playmates? Can't you hear him labelled "prune" after school and perhaps for years afterward? If he ever eats another prune, the humiliation of that moment will return for a long time to come.

Though the emotional effect is less serious, the influence upon choice of food is just as great when an adult says, often with a wry face, "Oh, I don't like milk. It upsets me," or "I don't like the taste of milk." To the child, something queer about milk is suggested. He's not sure what it is, but when a grownup says it, there surely is something wrong. Right there in a thoughtless moment we tear down months or years of careful teaching and persuasion. If we have to refuse milk, let's say "milk is good, but I don't care for any right now." Remember! Little ears hear a lot to wonder about.

Does the school always equip the child well for adult life? Dr. Ireland discusses this in his next

POPULAR VOTE OPPOSES STATESMEN'S WARS

Once in a blue moon, someone takes the unprecedented step of trying to find out what the ordinary man in the street thinks about his country's foreign policy. When this is done the results are apt to be surprising.

Some 40 organizations recently undertook a great poll of British citizens to see what sentiment might be in regard to the League of Nations, disarmament, and similar issues.

All in all, they collected more than 11,000,000 votes, slightly less than 40 per cent of the entire British electorate. If the 11,000,000 people who voted represent a fair cross-section of British opinion—and there is good reason to suppose that they do—here is what the average Briton wants done:

He is overwhelmingly in favor of British adherence to the League of Nations.

He is almost equally overwhelmingly in favor of arms reduction.

He favors international agreement to abolish military and naval aircraft and to prohibit the manufacture and sale of weapons for private profit.

He favors the use of economic sanctions, such as the boycott, against aggressor nations which make war in violation of such agreements as the Kellogg treaty. By a lesser majority, he even favors the use of military measures against such nations.

Add all of this together and you discover that the war-weary Briton not only wants peace, but is willing to take some risks and do some unorthodox things in order to get it. That isn't surprising. He lived through four and one-half years of war that almost wrecked his nation; he isn't keen to get another dose of the same.

Statesmen are fond of saying that wars come as a result of irresistible popular clamor; that the various treaties, agreements and leagues to preserve peace are all right in theory but do not command the popular support which they must have in order to succeed; and that a statesman who proposed outright disarmament, or tried to put real teeth in such a thing as the Kellogg treaty, would immediately be disowned by his own voters.

This British poll would seem to give the lie to those claims. It shows that the people of at least one great nation—a nation which lives under the shadow of war, has enemies at its very frontiers and can look back on a long and proud tradition of military success—are ready, even eager, to go to almost any length to keep another war from overwhelming the world.

WAITING FOR ORDERS

Signs accumulate that the depression has dammed up a tremendous quantity of industrial orders—which, if the dam is ever broken, will flood the land with an almost unbelievable quantity of buying.

Thus at the recent meeting of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, in Cleveland, an elaborate report was read indicating that potential machinery requirements of American industry now total more than $18,000,000,000.

"When confidence returns to American industry," remarked the report, "that mammoth potential machinery demand will begin to surge forward."

To which the ordinary man can only reply with a prayer that confidence return speedily. Turn loose 18 billions in machinery orders, and you would pave the way for a prosperity which would make that of the Coolidge era look weak and wan. Isn't there some quick way in which this dam can be dynamited?

GREATNESS OF OUR RESOURCES

Representative Ekwall of Oregon and Representative Duffy of New York have been advertising the apples of their respective states during their sojourn in Washington, being free with samples of their products.

The northwest has been diligent for many years in promotion of its orchard products, which have become famous because of the advertising given them through various avenues.

Yet Illinois and Iowa are producing apples without superiors and nothing ever is heard of the fact. Our resources of these two states are so great and are so diversified, and the apple industry is so insignificant in comparison with cattle and hogs and corn, that nobody ever thinks of either Illinois or Iowa as a great apple state.

People talk of Hood river and Wenatchee valley apples as if it were necessary to go that far away to get a good grade of apples. Superior apples are produced in our own orchards.

WATCH LA FOLLETTE'S VOTE

The country will watch with interest how Sen. Robert LaFollette will vote on President Roosevelt's proposal to levy heavy taxes on inheritances. Senator Cutting of New Mexico, who was killed in an airplane crash, left $75,000 to the Wisconsin Senator and his brother Phillip, governor of the Badger state. One wonders, after having read and heard the LaFollette's talk about unearned riches, if they will entertain a thought of keeping this bequest, or will practice their preachings and share it with the poor of their state.

It is absurd to call the president's tax program a share-the-wealth program. It is, in fact, nothing more than a share-the-burden-of-government program.—Senator Borah of Idaho.

"Well, our old friend, the rocket man, is on his merry way. We can go down into the water, now," said Scouty, with a grin.

"Although I'm feeling brave and bold, I hope the water isn't cold. I hate to start to shiver just as soon as I get in."

The ruler of the deep blue sea smiled and replied, "Take it from me, the water's simply wonderful. You'll all enjoy a dip."

"I'll wait until you swim around, and get to feeling safe and sound, before I tell you how to start off on your deep-sea trip."

"Now, down the shore, about a block, you'll find a dandy little dock. All run out to the end of it and jump, when I say go!"

Five of the Tines ran real fast. Course Duncy didn't. He was last. Wee Scouty shouted to him, "Hey, come on! Don't be so slow!"

Real shortly they were in a line and their new friend exclaimed,

"That's fine. Now, I am going to count to three. Then you all jump at once."

Poor Duncy wailed, "Oh, we will get all of our clothes just soaking wet, but go ahead! I'm game. I'm used to doing crazy stunts."

The old man counted. My, what fun! The Tines jumped in, one by one. "Why, I can touch the bottom," shouted Duncy, with a smile.

The man replied, "If you will keep on walking out, you'll find it's deep. However, don't walk out yet, lots. Just swim around a while."

And then he added, "In my hand, I have a wand. You understand, that when I wave it over your heads, it's just part of my trick."

"Twirl fix you all so you can dive away down deep, yet keep alive. The wand is just a small net, fastened to a long thin stick."

(The Tines ride in a very strange boat in the next story.)

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Text: Exodus 24:3-8, 12-18
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 7.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of Advance

The lessons of the new quarter deal with representative men and women of the Bible. The Bible characters chosen are selected not only for their personal interest and greatness but for what they have represented in their careers and in the history of religion.

Moses, the first of these, is selected as the type of the leader and lawgiver. In Moses these two characters were united. He became the lawgiver in the task of leading his people and developing for them the rules and restraints necessary for the welding of individuals into a well-ordered society.

The topics associated with this lesson for intermediate and senior groups and for young people and adults, are significant. For the former group the theme is "What It Means to Be a Patriot," and for the latter group "Religion in National Life."

There could be no truer and better example of the patriot than Moses, a man devoted first of all to righteousness and high ideals whose primary obligation was to God and not to his people, but who loved his people and led them because his obligation to God had taught him the definiteness and fullness of human duty. For him devotion to his people was the very essence of faith and action.

Brought by early circumstance into the palace of the Pharaohs, he had refused, when he came to manhood, to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter, but had chosen rather to suffer the affliction of his people.

Like all truly great leaders he had felt the inadequacy of his own strength and ability. He had shrunk from the task before him and had accepted it only with the clear assurance that it was his God-given mission.

The task was made all the harder by the attitude of the people themselves. It is a strange fact in history that so often those who have most needed leadership have been unwilling to be led. They have had more regard for the fleshpots of Egypt than for the allurements of freedom, or their spirit has been so broken by bondage and distress that they have lost either the capacity or the urge to find some better situation.

The inspiration to Moses in his mood of reluctance came through a vision of God and a revelation of his will. Again, as he faces the crucial task of organizing and building into an ordered society the people whom he has led out of their bondage, inspiration comes to him upon the mountain top.

One may read the story in all its literalness of detail, or one may read it in the light of a more critical age distinguishing between the essential truth and the form.

The essential truth is that Moses gave to the people through this experience of inspiration 10 commandments which, as we analyze them, were directed toward establishing in all human relations the principles of fairness, consideration, and justice, without which no society can have strength or stability.

We read these commandments today in the light of Christ's larger commandment of love, but the commandments of Moses are not abrogated. What the commandment of Jesus does is to fill up in the freedom of the life of the spirit all that Moses established in formal codes and rules. Moses is for our age, as for his own, the great type of leader and law-giver.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The W. C. T. U. met for their annual picnic and guest day, at the home of Miss Alice Helmershausen, with a good attendance of members and guests. The meeting opened with devotions, led by Miss Adella Helmershausen. The Crusade hymn was sung as a chorus number and was followed by roll call in which all took part by naming a favorite flower.

Following a short business a variety program was presented as announced by the program leader for the day, Mrs. Sadie Blaine. Miss Alice Helmershausen rendered a beautiful piano solo, "Moonlight on the Hudson"; Mrs. Wm. Holley read an interesting clipping entitled, "These Cannot Be Repealed." An amusing "snake story" with a point was told by Miss Adella Helmershausen; this was followed by a vocal duet, "The Temperance Ship", rendered by Mrs. Ira Buck and Mrs. E. J. Wolf, which was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Charles E. Holley gave a very interesting article entitled "W. C. T. U. Activities Around the World". She told of educational activity against the use of beverage alcohol, being carried out in fifty-four different countries through women's organizations; of the article she passed several pictures representing various lines of W. C. T. U. work for W. C. T. U. women are always working for their great objective—the protection of the home—through agitation and organization, through information and education, and finally along the two lines of persuasion and legislation.

A reading, "Some Say There is No God" was given in a pleasing manner by Miss June Miller; this was followed by a delightful piano number, "Reverie" by Mrs. Henry Hicks. Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday next presented an article, "The Point of View." Mrs. Addie Johnson read a selection, "A Man's Prayer" which was beautiful; Mrs. Paul Studebaker and Mrs. C. W. Lahman sang a duet, "The Rose of Sharon" which was much enjoyed. Miss Leone Fisel in a very pleasing way recited the old-time favorite, "Lips That Touch Liquor Shall Never Touch Mine." The program closed with the reading by Mrs. Ella Miller of an interesting clipping entitled "America's Liquor Bill."

By the time the program was completed, the rain was coming down in bucketsful so the picnic lunch was enjoyed within the hospitable home instead of on the lawn as planned. While the committee was preparing the feast and serving, singing and instrumental, also social visiting were enjoyed by all. A bountiful cafeteria lunch with delicious ice cream was served by the hostess, was most thoroughly enjoyed by all present. One new member was added to the roll of membership, and we sincerely hope that more may join later.

After standing and singing together the W. C. T. U. doxology, the meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks, July 12th with Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday at which time a patriotic program will be presented by the leader, Miss Alice Helmershausen.

Likes Her Work: Jealous Fiance

Insists She Must Give It Up

Should a girl give up a job she enjoys, that is well-paid and offers pleasant surroundings because her fiance insists upon it?

Or should she give up the fiance?

Jo Darien, heroine of "Sun-Tan," the new serial beginning July 8 in The Evening Telegraph, has to decide this problem. Jo, who is 19 and just finishing her first year in college, learns that her parents face serious financial reverses. She hunts for a job and finally secures one as bookkeeper in a small marine supply store, at a salary of $10 a week.

Knowing this will barely pay her living expenses and leave nothing at all to contribute to her parents, she can hardly believe her good fortune when she is offered a job as hostess at Crest Lake Inn, a fashionable summer resort, at a salary of $300 a month. Jo accepts the new job eagerly.

She breaks the news to her fiance, Bret Paul, college athletic star. Bret is working his way through school and has one more year before graduation. At the end of the year he and Jo plan to be married. But when Bret hears about Jo's new job at Crest Lake he objects vigorously and insists she must give it up.

Jo is convinced that the real reason for Bret's objections is his jealousy of Douglass Marsh, wealthy owner of Crest Lake Inn. She feels that Bret should have complete confidence in her and that his attitude shows a lack of confidence. She finds it impossible to convince him that the reason she wants the job at Crest Lake is that it pays so much more than she could earn otherwise.

The situation is complicated by the fact that Bret knows that on the night before Jo broke a date with him to have dinner with Marsh. The disagreement between Jo and Bret soon becomes an open quarrel and Jo declares their engagement is at an end.

JO DARIEN

Bret leaves—and immediately Jo regrets her decision. For some time she waits hopefully, but he does not return. Two days later she sets out for Crest Lake Inn.

What happens there, where Peter Fragonet, movie actor, appears on the scene, where Douglass Marsh's eccentric mother makes trouble, and where Jo almost loses her life in an over-turned sailboat makes "Sun-Tan" one of the most exciting serials ever written.

Jo is a thoroughly likeable, understandable heroine. Nineteen years old, with blond hair and clear blue eyes, she has a happy disposition and refuses to be downed by misfortune.

"Sun-Tan" is in every sense an ideal summer serial. Watch for the first chapter beginning July 8 in The Evening Telegraph.

DAILY HEALTH

BEWARE OF RABIES

While the so-called dog days are an ancient prejudice, without foundation, the summer season is one in which dog bites are most frequent and during which, in consequence, rabies or hydrophobia as it is best known, is most widespread.

As every one knows, hydrophobia is truly a horrible disease, but it is possible to prevent it through the prevention of dog bites, the spread of the disease among dogs, and by prompt prevention treatment when a person has been bitten.

Naturally not every dog that bites is rabid. However, until the contrary is proved positively, one should assume the biting dog to be rabid and so deal with the bite.

When the guilty animal is known and can be isolated, it should be watched and studied to determine whether it is rabid. A suspected dog should not be killed if it is at all possible to avoid doing so.

Subsequent developments will indicate whether the dog is rabid, and whether the bites it inflicted require antirabic treatment.

If the dog is killed, it is in certain instances possible (when the brain of the animal has been properly preserved) to determine by means of a microscopic examination of the nerve tissue, whether or not the dog was rabid. But this requires competent preservation of the nerve tissue and expert study.

The danger of rabies resulting from a bite is dependent, naturally upon whether or not the animal is rabid.

We may say, first, that not all persons bitten by rabid dogs necessarily develop rabies, and, secondly, bites about the face and fingers are more dangerous than, say, bites in the back and the lower extremities. Also, deep and torn bite wounds are more dangerous than superficial ones.

In this connection it is also important to note that other animals besides dogs can and do suffer from rabies, and consequently can spread the disease. Among the domestic ones are cats, horses, cows, swine, sheep, goat, rabbits and guinea pigs.

DIZZY DEAN IS SELECTED FOR ALL-STAR TEAM

Fumes With Cards Over Incident At St. Paul

Chicago, July 6 —(AP)—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, pitching ace of the St. Louis Cardinals, will pitch in the All Star game between the picked National and American league teams in Cleveland Monday, despite another battle with Frankie Frisch, manager of the world champions, over Dean's refusal to even "take a bow" in the exhibition game between the Cardinals and the St. Paul club of the American Association at St. Paul yesterday.

Considerably cooled off after the 400-mile ride from the Twin Cities, Frisch today said Dean would take part in the All-Star game.

"Certainly he will play, why not?" Frisch said. "I'm sorry he did not take advantage of his opportunities in St. Paul yesterday."

Doesn't Belong
"If a man like Dean doesn't think enough of his profession to go out and honor fans, who might have driven 40 or 50 miles to see him in action, why he doesn't belong in the game."

Dean was still in a rage when the Cardinals arrived here early this morning, enroute to St. Louis. Dean launched into a tirade against the Cardinals, declaring that Sam Breadon, president of the club, and Branch Rickey, vice president, treated ball players like they were dogs.

"They advertise me in St. Paul to speak over the radio," Dean boomed, "but it was against the contract I had with my sponsors in St. Louis. Finally I got burned up and talked anyhow. I told the listeners that if any of them were ambitious to become major league ball players for city sakes not to join the Cardinals organization because it was like being in a chain gang. They bring you up from the minor leagues, and if you don't hit .600 right away, they send you right back."

Stood 40 Minutes
"Why, I spent 40 minutes, standing on top of a dugout in St. Paul, autographing baseballs and programs, and thought that was enough."

"I ain't going out on them coaching lines just to make a monkey out of myself. They got three other guys to do the coaching. I don't get paid for coaching; I get paid for pitching."

"I offered to pitch a few balls even if I did pitch Thursday, but Frisch didn't want me to."

Frisch, manager of the National league all-stars, expressed sorrow over the report that Van Lingle Mungo, pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be unable to play in the Cleveland game, due to a damaged finger. He said he might select Lon Warneke of the Chicago Cubs, to fill the gap.

That pair of skittering eight-legged water bugs in this remarkable airplane picture are the Yale and Harvard crews racing on the Thames River near New London, Conn. The speeding Yale shell (upper left), which went on to the most overwhelming victory in a generation, has several lengths lead while the long wake of the Harvard boat tells of the desperate effort to close the gap.

Harridge Predicts American Victory in All-Star Game

Chicago, July 6 —(AP)—From his hospital bed, William Harridge, president of the American League, today predicted victory for the American Leaguers over the National league in the third annual All-Star contest to be played in Cleveland Monday.

President Harridge, suffering from a kidney ailment, will be unable to attend the game on orders from his physician. His condition was reported considerably improved but he may have to remain in the hospital until the first of the week or later.

"This is one of the biggest disappointments I have ever had," he said. "That All-Star game is the greatest stimulus baseball has had in my time and I hope the game in Cleveland will be as exciting as the first two."

RED HORSES TO INVADE DIXON HOME GROUND

Lost First Time Here 1-0; Winner Takes Gate Receipts

As a reward for winning the game this Sunday at the Dixon Airport field, either the Chicago Red Horse S. G. nine or the Dixon Independents will annex the gate receipts for both games played between the two, the first game having been contested Sunday, June 23rd.

In the first game, the Dixon Indies walked off the field with a 1 to 0 decision, the lone tally resulting from an error in which Royal Kays, second sacker for the Independents, sneaked home from third base. Each club labelled only two hits of opposing flingers. Smokey Joe Miller matched his mound opponent Murphy in expert fashion, and received better support from his mates by the margin of two errors. The Red Horses bobbled four balls and Dixon two, local errors being charged against Lebre on third, and "Smokey Joe" himself.

Hitters Watched
If the first game was any criterion as to the hitting ability of the Red Horse batsmen, Snyder, center fielder, and Hanford, left pasture tender, boast the quickest eyes.

They were responsible for the two hits made by the Equines. Paddy McDonald and Windmiller, Dixon State Hospital player, accounted for Dixon's blows. Whether the second game duplicates the first will depend on the ability of Miller to repeat his hot mound performance. The condition of the field by Sunday will hold the key to potential errors.

As a practice game for the coming battle the team warmed up on the Old Timers last Sunday with a 6 to 3 victory. Joliet was booked for a Fourth of July game, which was prevented by another rain storm.

HONEYMOONERS LOST THE POINT

But Safety Was Served When Dynamite Blast Ripped 5000 Tons Off Niagara's Brink

Niagara's roar was momentarily challenged as this man-made blast tore a 5000-ton slice off Table Rock at the Canadian tip of Horseshoe Falls and sent it crashing into the gorge below. The government was unhesitant to guard against possible rock slides from a crack extending 200 feet along the table.

A DOET WHO KEPT HIS COUNTRY ALIVE

FOR more than a century, while Finland was under the yoke of Russia, a small group of poets and writers devoted their efforts to writing down the folk lore of their country in the Finnish language, which Russia tried desperately to wipe out.

Led by a country doctor, Elias Lonnrot, these patriots went into the remotest sections of the country and so succeeded in perpetuating their language and their national spirit which might have been forgotten in favor of Russian or Swedish.

They had established the Finnish Literary Society in 1831. One hundred years later, in 1931, 15 years after her autonomy had been recognized, Finland issued a set of two commemorative stamps, one with a portrait of Dr. Lonnrot, and the other with the seal of the society.

Off to Make North China Safe for Japan

While diplomatic tension between Japan and Russia increased as a result of Soviet complaints about "invasions" of its territory along the Manchukuo border, Nipponese warlords continued to pour troops into the territory along the Great Wall of China. Amid a scene of holiday gaiety, happy Japanese troops are shown leaving Tokyo enroute to North China, from which the Nanking government has been forced to withdraw its army.

Looks like everyone is coming to the ice plant and to the sub-stations at corner of Peoria and River St., also at 610 Depot Ave., Dementtown for their ice. Clear ice right out of freezing temperature with a 10% overweight. All report well worth their while.

COOLERATOR

You've heard about Coolerator, the amazing new air conditioned refrigerator. How its patented air conditioning chamber not only keeps food cold, but also washes, humidifies and circulates the air, HOW THAT MEANS AN END OF COVERED DISHES, mixing of food flavors, drying out of foods. How you can have hard-frozen taste-free ice cubes in five quick minutes.

Now you can prove the truth of these statements in your own home. For a limited time, we offer you a ten day trial of any Coolerator you select—FREE. There are no strings—no catch to this offer. It is our sincere effort to help you realize how Coolerator changes all your old ideas of refrigeration.

See for yourself the totally different way Coolerator uses ice so that you have uniform cold temperature whether the ice chamber is full or nearly empty. See how you need to re-ice only once every four to seven days. See what a beautiful new addition to your kitchen Coolerator makes with its brilliant white DeLuxe finish, its silvery chromium trim.
